COURSE OF STUDIES.

The regular Institute Course of Study covers a period of four years. This is preceded by a Preparatory Course, occupying more or less time, according to the capacity and diligence of the pupil.

Throughout the entire Course, advancement from class to class depends upon qualifications.

STUDIES IN THE PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

Spelling and Reading,
Penmanship,
Mental and Written Arithmetic,
Hesselt's 2d Geography,
Warren's Common School Geography,
Butler's Primary English Grammar,
Fiske's Universal History,
Butler's Larger Grammar begun.

INSTITUTE COURSE.

FIRST CLASS.

Ray's Third Arithmetic continued,
Butler's Larger Grammar completed,
Goodrich's History of the United States.

Ray's Third Arithmetic completed,
Quackenbush' First Lessons in Composition,
Goodrich's History of the United States completed,
Warren's Physical Geography.

SECOND CLASS.

Robinson's Algebra commenced,
Goodrich's History of England,
Fock's Physical Philosophy.

Robinson's Algebra completed,
History of England completed,
Natural Philosophy completed,
Botany—"How Plants Grow."

JUNIOR CLASS.

Lord's Modern History completed.

Quackenbush' Rhetoric.

Porter's Chemistry.

Cleveland's Compendium of English Literature through the Eighteenth Century.

Modern History completed.

Cleveland's English Literature, Nineteenth Century.

Cutler's Anatomy, Physiology, and Hygiene.

SENIOR CLASS.

Haven's Mental Science.

Davis' Legendre's Geometry.

Alexander's Evidences of Christianity.

Gillett's History of Civilization.

Alexander's Moral Science.

Brinkley's Astronomy.

Baker's Analogy or Paley's Natural Theology.

OPTIONAL STUDIES.

Geology, Trigonometry, Latin, French.

EXERCISES THROUGHOUT THE COURSE.

Reading and Spelling, Penmanship, Composition, Vocal Music, etc.

An examination of this Course will show that it has been carefully arranged. One study prepares the way for another, and the most difficult branches are placed last,—two entirely optional, but oft neglected ones.

Double the number of branches might have been inserted in the curriculum, but at the cost of superficiality in the learners. Only half of the time now bestowed on each branch could then have been devoted to it.

TEXT-BOOKS.

In the Departments of Ancient and Modern Languages and the Fine Arts.

Bullion's Latin Grammar.

Bullion's Latin Reader.

Bullion's or Ashmole's Cicero.

Ashmole's Sallust, Virgil, Cicero's Orations.

Fraspelle's French Course.

Pajal and Van Norman's French Course,
 Haver's Exercises,
 Fiorillo,
 Elizabeth on les Exiles de Siberie,
 Corinne ou l'Italie,
 Faneur's Offenbach's Method in Italian.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC.

Berlin's Method for the Piano-forte.
 Richardson's Method for the Piano-forte.
 Mason and Headley's Piano Instructor.
 Cramer's Studies, or Studies in Velocity.
 Heller's Studies.
 Works of Beethoven, Mendelssohn, and Chopin.
 Czerny, Kuhn's and Zander's Organ Methods.

VOCAL MUSIC.

Methods of Handel, Garcia, Cook and Lablache.
 Cimasoni's Exercises—Mezzo-soprano and Soprano.
 Vucoli's Vocal Method.
 Bonaldi's Exercises for the Voice.

Pupils having any of the above books, would do well to bring them, and thus save unnecessary expense.

GENERAL REMARKS.

LOCATION. 86.

THE Institute is situated on the south side of Lexington Avenue, in the northeastern part of the town. The grounds contain nearly seven acres, and the site is high, dry and remarkably healthful. Danville is in the midst of an extremely lovely region of country, and has long been noted for its various institutions of learning. It is easily accessible from the South and West by the Lebanon Branch of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, South Danville Station being only five miles distant and connected with Danville by daily stages over a turnpike road. Passengers coming from the North and East leave the cars at Nicholasville, and come thence to Danville by daily stage, twenty-two and a half miles, through a beautiful and romantic country and over a very superior macadamized road. Persons starting in the morning from Louisville, Lebanon Junction or Cincinnati, arrive at our door at three or six P. M.

BUILDINGS AND ACCOMMODATIONS.

The buildings were originally designed for a distalvese Boarding School and, with the furniture and grounds, cost nearly ninety thousand dollars. All the apartments are heated by steam radiators, lighted with gas, supplied with water from pipes, and furnished in the most complete and comfortable manner. The chambers in the front building have three occupants each; those in the old building only two. They are all provided with carpets, bureaus, tables, washbasins or large closets, venetian blinds, gas chandeliers or brackets, spring mattresses, and most of them with single beds. No similar institution in the United States has more comfortable or even elegant appointments. Persons who had traveled extensively in Europe, have told us that they had seen there nothing superior, if indeed equal to our arrangements.

The Chapel or Study Hall, some eighty feet long by fifty feet wide and twenty feet high, is supplied with very durable and handsome single desks and chairs of oak, and a first-rate twelve-stop pipe Organ from the celebrated factory of E. G. and G. Hook, Boston. In the way of Apparatus we have a Fine Electrical Machine, Smee's and Grove's Galvanic Batteries, Rumor's Carbon Pile, a double-action Air Pump, a Compound Blow-pipe, Lavoisier Jars, a varied assortment of Chemicals, Retorts, Thermometers, Electro-Magnetic Machines, a very delicate Thomas-Electric Arch, Microscope and specimens, Mechanical Powers, Maps, Botanical and Physiological Charts, &c., &c. Also, in the Medical Department, various Plasters. In the Painting Room, Easels, Drawing Tables and Models. A capacious coach, with seats for twenty-four persons, conveys the boarding pupils to church on Sunday, and on occasional excursions Saturday evening.

During the past year we have added to the Apparatus a handsome pair of rubber-leaf Globes, a Map of Palestine, and a beautiful Map of Bible Lands published by T. Nelson & Co., Edinburgh.

LIBRARY OF THE INSTITUTE.

An elegant book-case has been erected in the east hall of the front building, and a number of standard works have been purchased for the Library—among them, the complete works of Washington Irving, in twenty-six volumes; Goldsmith, in four volumes; Prescott, in three volumes; Tasso's Jerusalem, the Arab, the Hero, the Orphan; Miss Strickland's Queens of England, in seven volumes; Chambers' Miscellaneous, in seven volumes; Macaulay's England, five volumes.

This occasion is taken to thank Miss CUNNINGHAM, of Tennessee, an unknown friend, who contributed pecuniarily to the Library of the Institute last year.

We would solicit contributions, in either money or books, from the former pupils of the school and the friends of education generally. Historical, poetical, belletrist, or philosophical works, any or all will be acceptable. Many such are now lying idle on shelves here and there, send them to us, and we will endeavor to make them abundantly useful, as they will be accessible to generations after generations of readers.

If this Catalogue should be so fortunate as to fall under the eye of some wealthy patron of education, the holding of an additional book-case and filling it with five hundred or one thousand volumes would perpetuate his name as a benefactor. In the Northern States gifts of this kind are quite common, and in amounts very much larger than that suggested.

HEALTH.

The aim has been to furnish to the public a boarding school, at which the health of the inmates would not deteriorate, but improve; and in many cases this most desirable end has been attained. Very few visits from physicians are ever needed by either teachers or pupils, and some tender constitutions have been rendered firm during their stay in the school.

Daily exercise in the open air, in the company of a teacher, is required of all the pupils whenever the weather is suitable. It is enjoined upon them all to provide themselves with substantial walking shoes, India rubber sandals, and an ample supply of flannel underwear for Winter.

Regular hours, an abundance of wholesome food, pure stream water, thorough ventilation, and that attention to the young people entrusted to our care, which is the result of ten years' experience, have produced many gratifying hygienic results. Our locality is remarkably free from malarial. The Winters are mild; the Springs and Falls delightful. When our pupils return home for their vacations, and particularly Christmas holidays with their irregular hours, their dissipation and their exposures to cold or wet weather; often our work in building up their constitutions is thrown back, and we are glad if we can repair the damage in one, two or even three months' time.

DIPLOMAS.

Those who pass satisfactory examinations in the full course of English Studies, and have been in regular attendance during at least the entire Senior Year of the Institute, will be entitled to Diplomas.

Except in very peculiar cases and by special agreement with the Principal, students from abroad are required to board in the Institute. WE CAN NOT BE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SCHOLARSHIP OR THE DEPARTMENT OF YOUNG LADIES WHO ARE NOT UNDER THE CONTROL OF EITHER PARENTS OR TEACHERS.

A Sabbath school is conducted by the Principal and the Assistant Teachers for the benefit of the boarding pupils, and the school is opened with divine worship every morning.

Quite a number of our pupils have from time to time united with the church. May the blessing of a Covenant-Keeping God ever rest upon the Institution, and may no year elapse without copious effusions of spiritual influence!

Subordinate to this, but still very important in the improvement of the manners, Pupils are expected to cultivate the habits of refined society. Quiet gentility and womanly modesty are perpetually inculcated. This is not the place to learn the false and unscriptural notion of "woman's rights," of which modern infidelity prates so much.

A GOLD MEDAL will be given to the young lady whose behavior during the year has been most satisfactory. In June, 1870, this honor was conferred upon Miss LUCIE BOWSTERN, of Lebanon, Ky.

DRESS AND POCKET MONEY.

Parents are requested not to supply their daughters with costly apparel, gold watches and chains, and expensive jewelry,—all of which are out of place in a school. Personal neatness, however, we esteem so highly that a Golden Medal will be presented to the neatest young lady in our boarding department. Also, one to the young lady whose chamber has been kept most tidy. In June, 1876, the former medal was awarded to Miss CORA GARRISON, of Fort Gibson, Missouri, and the latter to Miss JUDITH ARMSTRONG, of Reynoldsville, Ky.

Pupils are not allowed to keep pocket money except in very small amounts. The Principal will not be held in any sense responsible for any moneys not deposited with him. Funds collected outside by the parents or guardians, will be received and receipted for, deposited in the bank, and paid out to the pupils as they may have need. The Principal would also beg of parents and guardians never to send money to pupils except by checks, drafts, or registered letters; he is unwilling to convey letters of whose provenit or source pecuniary contents he is wholly ignorant.

VISITING AND CORRESPONDENCE.

Going to parties and receiving visits from young gentlemen are positively forbidden. Parents, guardians and other suitable visitors will confer a favor by not calling during school hours; this is a serious annoyance to us, and an injury to the scholars. The proper hours for calling are from three and a half to six P. M., from Monday to Friday, and any time of the day on Saturday. We do not desire visits on the Lord's Day, which should be kept holy.

Parents should furnish us lists of those persons with whom they wish their daughters to correspond. The Principal considers it his duty not to permit disseminating novels and pictorial newspapers to come into the Institution; he wishes Caldwell Institute to be a fountain of pure and saved influence.

LITTLE BOYS.

The boys connected with our Literary Department are all in the Primary Class, and are usually brothers of our other pupils. The public will understand that in its character ours is strictly a female school.

Half the above charges payable strictly in advance; the other half on February 1st, 1872.

From the schedule of prices it will be seen that $500 per year will defray all the expenses for board, fuel, lights and washing. Cheaper schools can be found by those who desire them; but in the end the amount saved on the daughter's education will prove to be trivial, larger sums being often squandered on a single evening's entertainment, or expended in regaining, or vainly seeking to regain lost health. Far more costly schools can be found by those whose taste lies in that direction, but we think parents can safely calculate that their children will have better accommodations, more comfort, more personal attention, and better facilities for education here, than in many schools where the yearly charges are from $200 to $3,000.

The daughters of Ministers of the Gospel will be taken at reduced prices.

Boarding pupils will be received at any time, but will be charged from that time to the end of the scholastic year in June, 1872. Those entering during the month of September, 1871, will be charged from the beginning. On and after October 1st, the charge will be from the date of entry to June 15, 1872, unless otherwise specially contracted for in the outset and for reasons satisfactory to us. We do not share and will not receive boarding pay, except in compliance with this regulation. No deduction will be made for withdrawal from the school, especially during the last month, unless in case of sickness protracted for four weeks. No well regulated school can offer a premium to discontent, indolence or idleness.

Notes.—Each pupil is expected to provide herself with necessary toilet articles, towels, table-napkins, silver fork and teaspoon, and to have every article of her clothing distinctly marked with her full name. Also, to have an umbrella, a pair of stout walking shoes, and a pair of India rubber sandals. A waterproof cloak is very desirable.

CLOSING REMARKS.

—•••••

AT the close of this, the fifth year of our connection with Caldwell Institute, we have again abundant cause to commend God's mercies. How great is His faithfulness to all them that put their trust in Him! The lives, the health, the welfare of the large number now attending the Institution have been precious in His sight. We shall enter upon the second Autumn of our stay here with hearts full of gratitude for the past and of hope for the future.

We will advert to a few points of interest.

I. THE LIBRARY.

At the close of each academic year, it is customary to give a school exhibition or concert, the proceeds of which we have been applying to the purchase of a Library. This topic has already been adverted to, but we call attention to it again in order to solicit contributions from the former pupils and graduates of the Institution, as well as from any generous friend of education who may see these pages. Caldwell Institute may perhaps be considered the best established Protestant female school in Kentucky. Individual principals and teachers and trustees may die, but as long as there are Presbyterian churches in Danville, so long may this school be expected to stand. Hence any benefactions to its Library will be in the direct possible way of accomplishing permanent good. If books are sent, let them be attractive in appearance and style, but especially let them be sterling, useful works. No sensational novel, no silly romance ought ever to be put into the hands of the young.

Any amount of money sent to us for this purpose will be faithfully accounted for, and the donor's name will be written or printed in the volumes purchased. A convenient way would be to send an order on Davidson, Bacon, & Co., Louisville, Ky., or any New York or Philadelphia bookseller, for books to a given amount. For libraries of this kind, publishers usually make a handsome discount from their prices.

As before intimated, numerous individuals in the Northern States give from $10,000 to $50,000 in single gifts to institutions of learning. Our expectations are much more modest, but we should be no less grateful.

II. APPARATUS.

Contrary to the usage in chartered and public institutions, the Apparatus of this school is the private property of the Principal. We have added to it from time to time, and hope soon to have a Telescope from London. We are already well supplied with Maps, Charts, Globes and Philosophical Apparatus.

3. HOME INFLUENCE.

When your daughters write home asking permission to take up some new study either in English or in any ornamental branch, please communicate directly with the Principal, before giving even a qualified consent. Being here on the ground and therefore understanding the case better than parents at a distance can, we can nearly always arrange all such matters to the best interest of all parties. Sometimes a pupil is extremely desirous to take up or to leave off a study, when we know that the permission ought not to be granted; and it is usually after a refusal on our part to make any change, that parents are appealed to. The result is either great discontent on the part of the pupil, or, if we yield, injury to her health or scholarship, or perhaps a needlessly large bill for extra branches. Parents might, we think, have a little confidence by this time in our understanding the science and art of teaching.

In a school of the size of this, quite a number of ornamental branches must be taught or so to suit the varied tastes and talents of the different pupils. Some seem to think it intended to teach all the branches to single individuals. This does no good. The English course, one ornamental branch, and, if you choose, one foreign language, are enough. Let the scholar learn those well, and attempt no more.
